

*Rome is not a city like any other.
It is a large museum, a living room
to be crossed on tiptoe.

PIAZZA NAVONA

Piazza Navona, was the Stadium of Domitian which was built by the emperor Domitian. The name of the square was originally "in Agone", since the stadium was used for athletics competitions. In ancient times the site was flooded for the "naumachie".

FONTANA DEI 4 FIUMI

The fountain of the four rivers represents four of the most important rivers in the world: the Ganges which represents the navigability of the river; the Nile represents Egypt; The Danube touches the Pope's coat of arms, as it is the closest major river to Rome, and the Río de la Plata, that sits on a stack of coins, it's a symbol of the riches America could offer Europe.

CHIESA DI SANT'AGNESE IN AGONE

The church of Sant'Agnese in Agone, is dedicated to Sant'Agnese, a girl who, according to a legend, was martyred during the persecution of Christians under Diocletian. In the 8th century the site became a place of worship. The patron of the church was Innocenzo X Pamphili, whose funeral monument is located inside the church.
